Annie Wright School 2010-2011

Half the fun is getting there....

For the Annie Wright community, 2011 marks the first International Baccalaureate graduating class, the introduction of a new headmaster, and the most diverse international student body the school has ever had. Keeping this in mind, the yearbook theme was inspired not only by the big journeys our school has taken this year, but also the daily journeys our students take in the classroom. We recognize that what we learn is part of the fun of getting to our final destination. These factors culminated into this year's yearbook theme "Half the fun is getting there" which encompasses our international identity as well as our love for learning as a community.

Summer Vacation

Alexis Sullivan and her family moved to Tacoma from Fairfield, Connecticut.

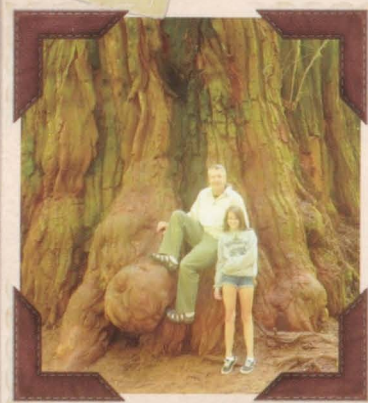

YELLOWSTONE

"I went to Montana with my family. We went to Yellowstone National Park. I held an orphan lamb and my mom wanted to keep it because it was so cute!" said Colleen Dimmer.

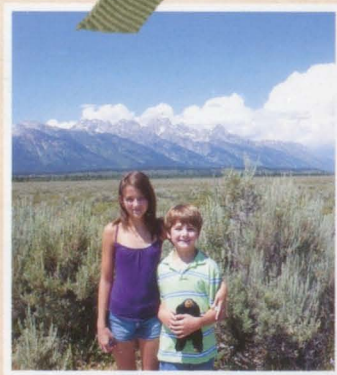

bon voyage

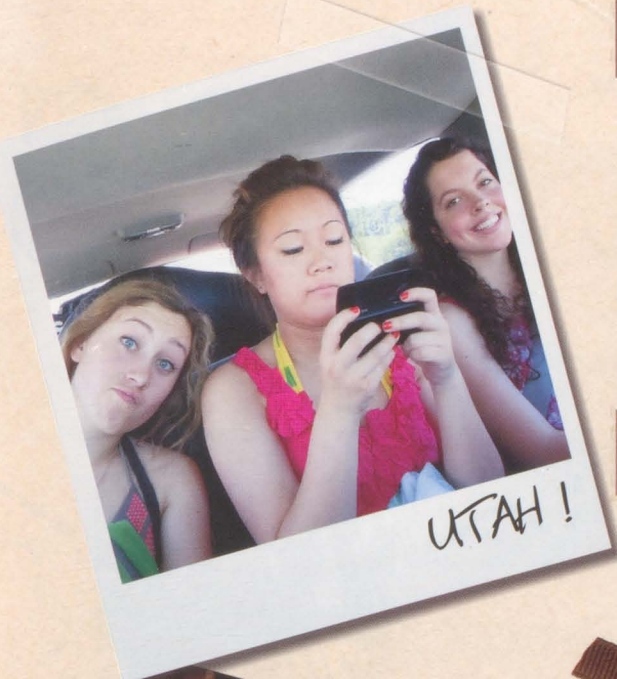

Josephine Ren had the opportunity to work with monkeys over the summer!

Lily Vernor went to Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Wyoming, Arizona, Colorado, and Texas with her family. She loved looking at the cactus sanctuaries in Arizona.

Jenny Thomson, Haley Kerrigan and Crystal Hwang visited Maren Hill at her home in Farmington, Utah. "We went to the zoo, played mini-golf, went to the midnight premiere of The Last Airbender, lit off fireworks, and hung out with Maren's friends and dog, Jack." exclaimed Crystal Hwang and Haley Kerrigan.

Haley Parks

"In June, I rode with an Olympic DRESSAGE rider, Jeremy Steinberg for 3 days in Oregon. Even though I don't show DRESSAGE, it's something memorable, to ride with someone so respected."

"I took a vacation to the Bahamas and it was beautiful. I loved the beach and seeing all of the sights. This was the first time I got to travel outside of the country. It was a very memorable trip." recounts Paris Cal.

traditions

Traditions are what make Annie Wright cohesive. They bring together our community by bridging all divisions of our school and link 127 years of
Annie Wright School.

Because of our traditions, we are able to connect the present of the school to the past as well as the future. Traditions allow our school to continue through time as complete and unified community.

Milk Boats 2010

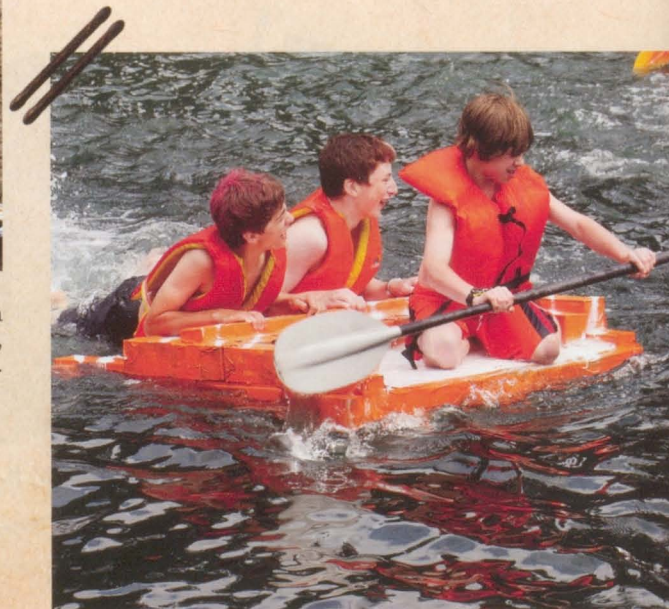

Milk Boats is an exciting 7th grade tradition held at Gravelly Lake. Students start the challenge 3 months in advance, writing sea shanties and designing boats out of milk cartons. Building materials were limited to duct tape, plywood, spray paint, and, of course, milk cartons. This fun event helps with team bonding and lets students experience the fun of making a milk boat! The final event is the actual racing of the Milk Boats and the performance of the sea shanties.

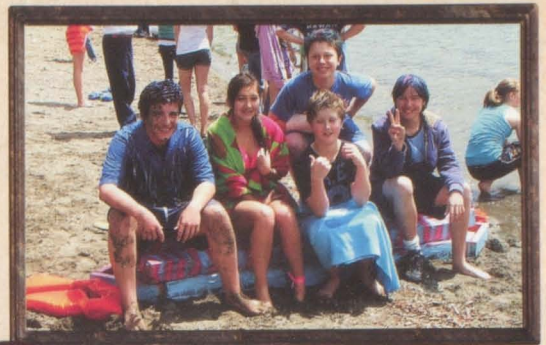

The 2010 winning team was White and the style award went to the Yellow team.

There's a Mystery

The Spade

The spade is considered the oldest tradition in Annie Wright School and was initiated by the class of 1891. Every year the senior class plants a tree of their choosing on the school campus during their graduation weekend. The girls in that class take turn shoveling the soil at the location they select. The spade is then presented to the incoming seniors in the month of September, but it is hidden somewhere on campus. The incoming senior class will then have until October 31st to find the spade and achieve senior privileges. Their tie color is tied around the spade once they graduate, but if the senior class is not able to locate the hidden spade a black tie is tied around it, which has happened only once. This year has been a very memorable one for a majority of students and faculty. Along with the many suspicious things that have occurred to this year's green tie senior class (for example, not being able to find the dime in the founder's day cake), the spade disappeared from its hiding spot! A replacement spade has been created. But, the question still resides; where could the spade have gone!?

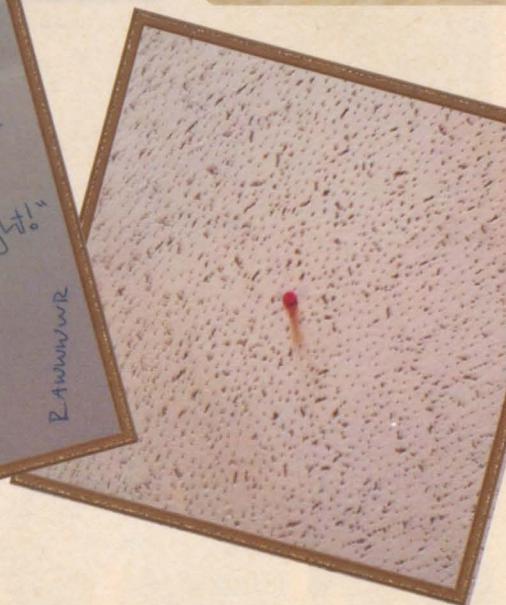

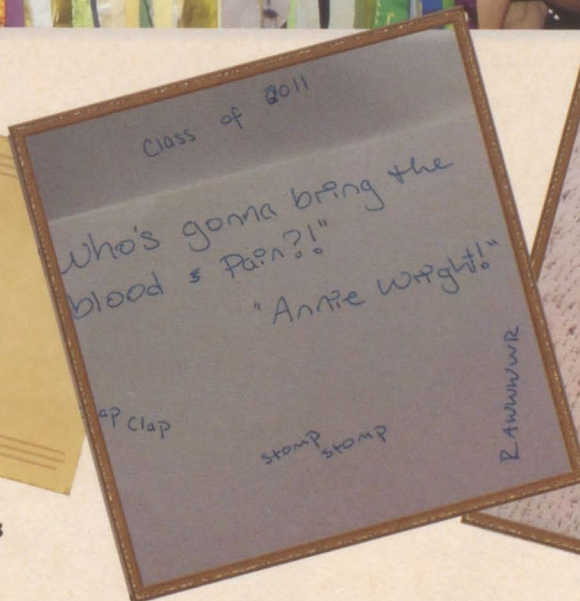

Left: The spade, before it disappeared, with seniors from the 2009 graduating class. Tied to the spade is a tie of every graduated class since the beginning of the tradition.

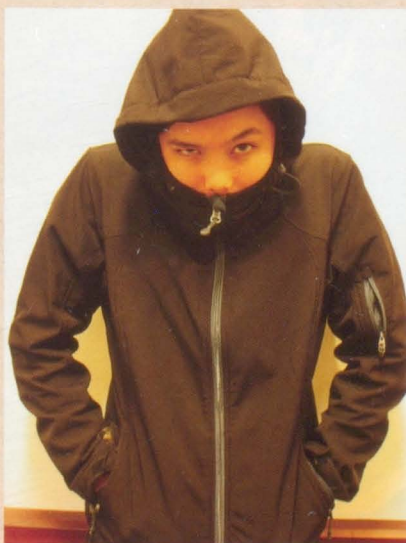

Far Right: The first clue was a ceiling tile given at the Back to School picnic by previous Red Ties.

Right: The second clue was a quote from the movie "She's the Man"; the soccer team started each match with this quote.

Suspects:

The graduated Red Tie class of '09: Although the class claims they do not know the whereabouts of the spade, the correlation between the appearance of new clues and holiday breaks of the previous seniors seems suspicious. Returning Red Tie Li Murphy is a definite candidate...

Joe Romano and dog

Tessa: Some suspicious photos were released of Joe attempting to steal the spade. They were claimed to be fake...or were they?

Pictured above is a barcode that was taped randomly around the school. The barcode, when scanned, read: "Below the ceiling, above the floor, the spade is hidden by the washroom door."

Let There be Cake

Founder's Day

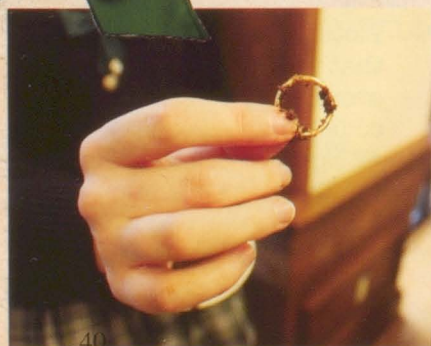

Above: The green tie senior class gathered in the Dining Hall to cut the Founder's Day cake. The cake holds 4 items: the thimble, the ring, the cross, and the dime. Each item is said to determine an aspect of the future of the one who finds it in her cake.

Left: Carol Liu thoroughly inspects her cake to make sure there is nothing to be found in it.

Right: Audrey Ren and Melissa Fallat help Mrs. Schwartz distribute the cake by the number of years each senior has attended Annie Wright.

Left: Hilary Reagan holds up the ring she found in her cake. The ring is said to go to the person who will become married first in the senior class.

Left: Jenny Thomson and Linnea Hattery eat their cake together at lunch.

Right: Kaitlyn Emerson-Ortiz finds the cross in her cake. The cross is said to be found by the most religious person.

Left: Hilary Reagan finds the ring, Kaitlyn Emerson-Ortiz finds the cross, and Miri Kim finds the thimble.

Above: The Founder's Day Cake.

Above: The dime is said to go to the student who will make the most money. Mysteriously this year, the dime went missing!

sports

The immense school spirit at Annie Wright School is attributed to the many achievements realized by the sports teams this year. A record high number of students attended games and cheered for their fellow classmates, creating bonds between students that some will never forget.

Posters were put up all over the school, "Go Gators!" was chanted throughout the Gator Dome, and our teams came home with victories!

Good job Gators!

Student life

The miscellaneous activities that are experienced throughout the year add a fun and carefree attitude to our school. They allow us to interact in a way that helps us to express ourselves and create an increasingly stronger community during our time at Annie Wright. These activities help us to step out of our comfort zones and explore the international community through which we have the opportunity to learn so much from.

*We ask ourselves, 'who am I to be so brilliant, gorgeous, talented and fabulous?'
 Actually, who are you not to be? Your playing small doesn't serve the world. There is nothing enlightening about shrinking so that other people won't feel insecure around you.
 We were born to make manifest the glory within us. It is not just in some of us, it is in everyone, and as we let our own light shine, we unconsciously give other people permission to do the same.*

We hope you'll remain fearless
 Never be afraid to take a stand
 We hope you'll speak with authenticity
 Be blessed with true friends
 We hope you find passion and love
 Wrapped in a warm embrace
 We hope you face challenges
 With poise, strength, and grace
 We hope you realize your good fortune
 Be generous to those not as blessed
 We hope you'll know little of sorrow or loss
 And never experience regret

Darling girl, the world is at your feet
 We hope you live life complete

A beautiful girl has graduated from high school heading off into the world to create a new reality. As you embark on your new endeavors know that you are greatly loved and that you can do anything. Stay focused and take responsibility for everything that you do. Be proud of your accomplishments and remember that there are no failures, only lessons. Learn from every challenge and overcome it. Love who you are and never let detractors take you from your dreams. Always know who and what you are, and that it emanates from the inside out. I am extremely proud of you, as are your extended family and friends, on this your special day. We all send you much love.

Nor flesh of my flesh or bone of my
bone;
Yet miraculously my own;
Don't forget for a single minute, you didn't grow under my heart but in it.

Author: unknown

I'll love you forever,
I'll like you for always,
As long as I'm living
My baby you'll be.

Author: Robert Munsch

You have brought such joy, love and laughter into our family--we are very proud of you

May your hands always be busy
 May your feet always be swift
 May you have a strong foundation
 When the winds of changes shift
 May your heart always be joyful
 And may your song always be sung
 May you stay forever young
